MONEY HEIST SEASON 3: THE ULTIMATE HEIST

Introduction:

Spanish series “La Casa de Papel” famously known as “Money Heist” has been renewed for a new season with 2 parts, marking the finale of the whole franchise.

The series appeared on Netflix in 2017 and so far, 2 seasons have been released of two parts each summing to a total of 4 parts released so far. The upcoming season 3 with part 5 on September 3 and part 6 on December 3, 2021, concludes the whole franchise with an emotional ending, says Alex pina creator of the series.

Overview:

Money Heist is a Spanish thriller series, which evolves around the protagonist nicknamed the professor and his followers who are named after different cities, have planned to pull the biggest heist in history, that is, to print the billions of Euros in the Royal Mint of Spain. This squad with the specialized skill set for each person has taken hostages to negotiate their way out of the problem with the authorities.

The Final heist:

The first image of the money heist for the upcoming season 3, describes the scenario of the prevailing situation in the storyline of the series. As the professor is caught by the authorities after Sierra finds out about his hideout and Lisbon is now inside the bank. As war approaches, the lack of leadership forces the squad to bring out their toughest side empowered by their anguish and powered by the weapons..

The creator of the series Alex pina describes the upcoming season, as follows:

“When we began to write Part 5 in the midst of the pandemic, we felt that we had to change what was expected from the ten-episode season and used every tool we could to create the sensation of a season finale or series finale in the first volume itself. We decided to work in an extremely aggressive genre, putting The Gang on the ropes. In volume 2, we focus more on the emotional situation of the characters. It is a journey across their sentimental map that connects us directly to their departure.”
